BYU Gets $20,000 Aid

on Pacific Railroad Foundation made a grant of $20,000 to the University.

President Ernest L. Wilkinson announced last week that the check was received at a recent luncheon meeting of officials of the University Foundation in Salt Lake City. It is an unrestricted addition grant for any purpose the University sees a special need for.

This is the ninth consecutive year that the Foundation, President Wilkinson said.

Low Family Rates

A new family rate for the summer at the Varsity Theater begins immediately and continues through Sept. 7. The family will apply Monday through Friday only of each week.

The rate will admit any member of a family with an activity card staff card. Children must be accompanied by parents. Call BYU Extension 311 for movie times and location.

Elder Cullimore was named to the apostleship in April of 1966. Previously, he served as president of the Central British Mission. He received a master's degree at the New York University School of Retailing. After employment with several companies, he started his own furniture business in Oklahoma City, Okla. In 1956 he was presented the Award of Merit by "Furniture World" magazine as the outstanding furniture retailer in Oklahoma.

Manchester Book Set For Review

Dr. J. Keith Melville will review the controversial book, "Death of a President," Wednesday at 11 a.m. in the Little Theater, 321 of the Wilkinson Center.

"Death of a President," written by William Manchester at the request of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, and the late President's brother, Robert, has caused international controversy.

GUEST SPEAKER

Associate professor of political science, Dr. Melville will appear as a guest speaker for the Academic Book Review Committee. He is a 1947 graduate of the University of Utah; received his M.A. from the University of California at Berkeley in 1949; and, was granted a Ph.D. from the University of Utah in 1956. Joining BYU's faculty in 1957, Dr. Melville's emphasis is on American Constitutional History, American History and Politics. Recently, he published a series of monographs entitled, "Highlights in Mormon History."

GRADUATION REMINDER

According to Jay Eitner, Wilkinson Center business manager, today through Friday will be the last opportunity for August graduates to order caps, gowns and announcements.

Orders will be taken daily from 12 noon to 5 p.m. at the Alumni House.

U. S. Needs Librarians

An acute shortage of librarians throughout the nation was reported Monday to librarians from all over Utah meeting at Brigham Young University.

Miss Mary V. Gaver, professor of library science at Rutgers University, N. J., and immediate past president of the American Library Association, sounded the warning in an address to about 300 Utah librarians. She spoke in the Wilkinson Center on her return from the National convention of the association in San Francisco.

By 1970 there will be a need for 150,000 librarians, Prof. Gaver asserted, and indicated that the profession has been slow to recognize the implications for itself in the changes in education.

She explained that new technology, such as computer information retrieval, has created new demands for services. In addition, federal funds have provided for expansion of elementary, high school, medical, and vocational libraries and libraries for the blind, not to mention the inauguration of libraries by many industries.

She encouraged the Utahns to urge more college students to enter the field, to define jobs more adequately for better utilization of employees, and to work for better salaries for those with adequate preparation.

Lyle S. Curtis to Direct College Union Confab

Lyle S. Curtis, director of the Ernest L. Wilkinson Center at Brigham Young University, has been appointed host director for the 1969 conference of the Association of College-Union-International at Denver.

The appointment was made by the Association President, Richard Blackburn of Kansas State University.

Mr. Curtis will be in charge of all food, housing, entertainment and physical arrangements for the conference. For three years he has been regional representative for the states of Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, and Arizona.

The Association is a professional organization of nearly 800 member college unions, including affiliates in United States, Canada, Japan, Great Britain, South America, and the Middle East. Organized in 1914, it is one of the older professional organizations in higher education.

Biological Depts. Combined

The Agronomy and Horticulture Departments of the College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences have been consolidated into a single department under the name of Agronomy and Horticulture, announced President Ernest L. Wilkinson last Friday.

Agronomy includes the areas of field crop production, irrigation and drainage, soil physics and chemistry, conservation, soil microbiology, and plant breeding.

Horticulture includes fruit production, nursery practice, orchard management, landscaping, home grounds beautification, and pest control.

Children's Workshop Begins Today

Under the direction of Professor Charles W. Whitman of the Dramatics Arts Department, the first creative dramatics workshop for children will be held July 17-August 17.

Children ranging in ages 4-14 will meet for an hour Monday through Friday during the time.

Each age group will meet according to the following schedule:

- 9 a.m.—4 year olds
- 10 a.m.—5-6 year-olds
- 11 a.m.—7-8 year-olds
- 1 p.m.—9, 10, 11 year-olds
- 2 p.m.—12, 13, 14 year-olds

The workshop will be conducted in room B-201 of the Harris Fine Arts Center. For information contact the Office of Special Courses and Conferences, BYU.

Dr. Whitman emphasized that creative dramatics is not for the talented few. During the last session of the workshop, parents will be invited to observe."
